

Vicki L. Robinson is the Senior Advisor for Health Care Reform for the Office of Inspector General (OIG) at the United States Department of Health and Human Services. She previously served as Chief of the Industry Guidance Branch in the Office of Counsel to the OIG where she was responsible for reviewing business arrangements for compliance with the fraud and abuse laws, preparing advisory opinions, drafting safe harbor regulations, and providing guidance to industry and government stakeholders on the anti-kickback statute, safe harbor regulations, and other fraud and abuse authorities. Prior to joining the OIG, Ms. Robinson was in private practice in Washington, D.C. Ms. Robinson is a graduate of Harvard Law School and Stanford University. She served on the governing council of the Health Law Section of the American Bar Association and is a frequent speaker on health care fraud and abuse topics.