

2018 AHLA Top Honors

AHLA Top Honors recognizes the organizations behind our members—those law firms, organizations, health plans, businesses, and government agencies that consistently and enthusiastically encourage and sustain their members' and employees' affiliation with AHLA.

The Top 10 Companies list ranks the companies that have the most paid members enrolled in AHLA as of April 30, 2018. It is not a ranking of the largest health law firms or companies.

“I joined AHLA in law school and found it to be a valuable way to connect with health lawyers. I also valued the organization’s resources. So, when I joined [my current firm], I was immediately looking to remain a member. I continue to derive great benefit from AHLA.”
—Alexander Foster, Arnall Golden Gregory LLP

Practice Group Enrollment

Practice Groups are composed of members who share a similar work setting or interest in specific areas of health law and who wish to increase their level of expertise in and knowledge of health law issues, grow professionally, gain valuable leadership experience, and network with other health lawyers from across the country. With 16 Practice Groups to choose from, there is sure to be one (or more) to fit your niche.

The Practice Group Enrollment list ranks the companies that have the most paid members enrolled in Practice Groups as of April 30, 2018. Each person is only counted once, even if he or she is enrolled in multiple Practice Groups.

1	Polsinelli PC	261
2	Bass Berry & Sims PLC	185

AHLA Educational Programs

AHLA's educational programs are the gold standard in the legal community. As the premier provider of continuing education to the profession, AHLA leads health law to excellence through many venues, from its highly regarded in-person programs held across the country to its distance learning webinars that cover breaking regulatory issues and hot topics.

Distance Learning Registrations

AHLA's distance learning webinars allow participants the flexibility to stay abreast of regulatory developments in the health law field, and in most cases earn continuing legal education credits, without having to leave the comfort of their office, home, or any other location from which it's most convenient to participate. Participants are able to access live presentations via their web browsers and ask questions in real time.

This Distance Learning Registrations list ranks the companies that have the most individuals (both members and nonmembers) registered for distance learning webinars during fiscal year 2018 (June 1, 2017–May 31, 2018). Each person is only counted once, even if he or she registered for multiple webinars.

“When I applied for a new job, as I submitted my resume, I noticed how it was ‘beefed up’ with leadership, writing, speaking, and other AHLA activities. AHLA is available for whatever opportunities you want to utilize to express yourself professionally and, in so doing, to strengthen your resume and make connections.”

—Alan Bloom, Care 1st Health Plan

In-Person Program Registrations

AHLA offers a wide array of in-person educational programs in different cities throughout the United States. Whether it's a foundational session or a deep dive into the latest regulatory issue affecting your clients, learn from experts in the field and earn continuing legal education credits.

This In-Person Programs Registrations list ranks the companies that have the most individuals (both members and nonmembers) registered for in-person programs during fiscal year 2018 (June 1, 2017–May 31, 2018). Each person is only counted once, even if he or she registered for multiple programs.

Don't see your company on this list? Go to www.healthlawyers.org/Pages/Events-and-Education.aspx to register for an in-person or distance learning program and increase your chances of making the list next year.

"I think the real advantage [of in-person programs] is the personal contact, people working together [and] meeting each other; people meeting other people, gaining contacts, networking, gaining friends who may be friends for life. That's something that a publication can't give you and lots of other organizations can't give you but which AHLA does."—Bob Leibenluft, Hogan Lovells LLP

"I want to tell you about one of my AHLA mentees. We have been working together for approximately four years. We began our relationship by talking for an hour or so each week. Now we talk several times a month and exchange email messages several times in between our telephone conversations. We talk about all sorts of issues, including substantive law issues, relationships with other attorneys, marketing our practices, how to resolve billing issues, etc.

"The professional success of this mentee is astounding! He had just begun his solo practice when we started our relationship. Over the last 4 years he has expanded his practice considerably and quadrupled his income. He has just added an associate to his practice."

—Elizabeth E. Hogue, Elizabeth E. Hogue LLC
